

Hatem Nasser is a Ph. D candidate at Long Island University (LIU), NY with a major in Pharmaceutics and Drug Design. He has earned his master's degree in pharmaceutics and industrial pharmacy from LIU. Currently, he works as a graduate research assistant at Natoli Institute for Industrial Pharmacy and Research at LIU. He has presented a scientific poster at AAPS-2017. His area of interest includes formulation and development of solid dosage forms.